If you're a teacher like me, you're probably feeling extremely hesitant returning to the classroom this year for obvious reasons. But although we feel hesitant, we know one day we will all have to go back to the classroom one way or another. Schools are fully opening up again across the country and we can expect our boys and girls to be mingling.

Unfortunately for me, my school district was one of the first to resume in-person classes in the entire country. (Thanks, Georgia!)

Of course, this news made me a nervous wreck. I already have asthma and another personal pre-existing condition, so the thought of going back to school to teach my 3rd graders wasn't ideal.

government: we can open the schools kids are responsible enough to avoid spreading covid to each other kids when they cough:

I had even thought of quitting, but going back to waiting tables at the restaurant I worked at prior wasn't any better.

I felt stuck.

The school board assured us we would have all the safety precautions set up before schools opened, but how long would they actually be effective? That was the real question.

Facemasks may be required, but most schools aren't requiring hand sanitizer.

And when you're teaching young children who can't understand just how serious this all is, it's still a worry that they're not enforcing this.

My school set up plenty of hand sanitizer dispensers all over the school, but most public hand sanitizer dispensers become so gross after a while.

Some only spurt the smallest amount of foam and aren't replaced frequently enough to make them dependable.

Not to mention all the other teachers, students and parents all touching the same dispensers non-stop for weeks at a time. It's a germ cesspool.

The very thing that's meant to save us may actually get us sick in the long run.

But that's when a friend told me about SaniBand

I was so anxious the couple weeks prior to the opening day of school that my friend noticed I wasn't feeling myself. When I told her what was bothering me, she told me about SaniBand.

At first, I thought this was another needless contraption designed to take advantage of a bad situation, but my friend insisted I try one out for myself. And I'm sure glad I did!

This Personal Wristband Is A Teacher's Lifesaver

For starters, this band is 100% for personal use – meaning no one else but you uses it. It's made of medical-grade silicone and is fully adjustable to fit your wrist perfectly.

You also can add your own favorite brand of hand sanitizer and refill it whenever it runs low. And the best part is it doesn't leak!

It's now been a full month since classes resumed, and I have to say this wristband greatly put my mind at ease.

So, when my students come to give me a hug or touch my hands with something wet, I have no worries as long as this remains on my wrist.

Now, my morning routine looks something like this: Keys, Wallet, Phone, Facemask, and SaniBand!

Why Should You Get A SaniBand?

Firstly, this wristband is one of the top accessories every teacher must have. The mere convenience of having hand sanitizer on you at all times could be crucial to your overall health.

You don't have time to step out of the classroom to use a dirty hand sanitizer station in the hallway. Plus, you never have to worry about forgetting to place your own bottle in your purse or schoolbag.

The SaniBand is also so convenient that I started finding myself using it even outside the school – in my car, the grocery store, my church, etc. I even took advantage of the bundle deals and gave one to my husband. (He loves it, too!)

SOME AWESOME SaniBand FEATURES:

- ✓ Made Of Medical-Grade Silicone - The material is comfortable, hypoallergenic, waterproof and germ-proof.
- ✓ Adjustable - One size fits all with an adjustable strap.
- ✓ Never Leaks - The hand sanitizer stays firmly within its compartment even under normal use.
- ✓ Refillable & Washable - Fill it up with your favorite sanitizer and wash it when needed.
- ✓ Use On More Than Just Hands - You can squirt some hand sanitizer on every surface you touch - door handles, gym weights, elevator buttons, etc.

Is It Worth It?

Teaching in-person is no longer a serious worry for me anymore. In fact, I recommend SaniBand to all of my faculty friends and family. I even recommended it to parents during Parent-Teacher night.

SaniBand is great for adults and kids alike, so I would not miss out on their sale right now. That means you can get one for you and one for someone else you deeply care about.

But since there are so many knock-offs that look similar, I would make sure you buy from the link below to make sure you get all the right features and the discount.

And remember, you control your hygiene, not the school board.

Limited time offer: GET UP TO 50% OFF (on select bundles)

The cool thing is that right now, SaniBands is offering a up to 50% off on select bundles deal. It's a limited time offer though, so you'll have to order right away if you want to get that deal.
